When the abortive equitable schedule was a-borning, we did our all to help its defeat. But the ebon in the wood pile would not be painted white. They wanted to take the week-end and they wanted to take the week-end games away from Richmond, and they did. Now they are paying the penalty. We predicted then that Richmond would make money under any conditions; less money under the new schedule than under the old. But the end of the season would show a profit. We likewise predicted that Newsell end of the season would show a profit. We, likewise, predicted that Newport News would draw well this season, regardless of the club Mathews had gathered. He has been fortunate in getting a very good club, which, of course, holps matters. We further predicted that Norfolk would show a very substantial increase over last year; and this has come to pass, thanks to Buck Pressly, who has a knack of making himself popular knack of making himself popular wherevere he goes.

Now, then, for a few more predictions: We were very positive that if second during the three years the city has been in the league. Nothing less than this will satisfy, and even a winhas been in the league.

Time was when Richmond sent many that some of the bleacher gods felt that their 10 cents' admission fee entitled them to hurl; and they didn't like Cowan's method of resenting things. Therefore, they set about making his life miscrable. They came very nearly doing it, and if it is any satisfaction to them, it cost him his job here.

If Cowan is in any kind of condition—and we understand that he is ready right now—he will make a valuable addition to the Portsmouth outfit. There isn't a catcher in the league who knows more about the game, who can do more to steady young pitchers, or who can instill more pep into the or who can instill more pep into the men on the field than George Cowan.

Be not surprised, ye fans, if the violent explosion predicted in this column some several weeks ago comes carlier than anticipated. Without any official information at hand, we are Roanoke and Portsmouth are losers and big losers.

Here is where the equitable schedule hurts, for, while admittedly it cuts into Richmond's pocketbook, for every dollar it costs Richmond's pocketbook, for every dollar it costs Richmond it costs the league as a whole two. Somebody is going to have the burden of carrying two losing edites. Richmond has had.

Colts and Tigers Play for Second Place

For the first time to nearly eight years Richmond fans will have the opportunity of seeing a Richmond team in the Virginia League playing a regular scheduled game on Monday. This afternoon the Colts will have as their guests the Ronnoke Tigers, beginning a three-game series. Richmond, Ronnoke and Petersburg are tied for second place, and the game this afternoon should determine the rightful possessor of the runner-up berth. Mills and his men have been carrying things with a high hand during the past week, frouncing the Goobers rather niftly. It should be a corking battle, as Ryan is just as anxious to win as Manager Mills is to have him lose. Neither manager has announced his pitcher for the fruy. It will probably depend upon which of the men show the most during the warming-up process.

Manager Ryan stated last night that he had not definitely deter-mined whether Robe would play second or third, but probably third.
